Activities in this booklet are based on Careers are Everywhere! Texas Workforce Solutions, Labor Market and Career Information.

We are going to look at groups of careers that have something in common. You may find some of the careers more exciting than others. As you continue your career journey, you may want to look closely at other occupations that fit in the groups you like best.

Career Groupings

Careers are often grouped together based on something they have in common. Imagine your teacher asks everyone in your class what their favorite snack is. Then your teacher has all those whose favorite snack is popcorn go to one part of the room, those whose favorite snack is chips go to another part of room, and so on. You and your classmates would then be grouped together based on your favorite snacks. Here are the groups of careers you will explore with Carson.

People in realistic careers generally like to work with things more than people. They usually are good at working with their hands or playing sports. They like to work indoors and with tools and machines.

People in investigative careers generally like to explore and understand events. They usually are good in math, science, and working to solve problems.

People in artistic careers generally like to work with creative ideas and express themselves rather than work within routines and rules. They are usually good in art, enjoy creating their own projects, and have a good imagination.

People in social careers generally like to help, teach, and give people advice. They usually like to be around other people, are interested in how people get along, and like to help other people with their problems.

People in enterprising careers generally like to persuade others or give them directions rather than working with things or ideas. They usually like to be a group leader.

People in conventional careers generally like to follow orders and directions, and do not like work that does not have clear instructions. They are usually good in math, like to organize things, and like to work indoors.

Which groups do you think sound the most interesting?

Realistic Careers for Doers

People in these careers generally like to work with things more than people. They usually are good at working with their hands. They like to work indoors and with tools and machines.

Electrical Engineers

Electrical engineers plan, test, and help build many types of electrical and electronic equipment. They design appliances and other machines run by electricity. TVs, computers, and robots are just some of the things they design.

List three electrical items in your home that an engineer probably designed.

- 2.
- 3.

Etchers and Engravers

Etchers and engravers put letters or designs on different types of metals or wood. They can also engrave jewelry or trophies.

Pretend you've won first place in a competition of some kind. (Examples: soccer tournament or piano recital.) Write your name, a date, and the type of award on the trophy below.

Landscaping and Grounds Keeping Workers

Landscaping and grounds keeping workers landscape or maintain grounds of property using hand tools, power tools, or other equipment. They typically perform tasks like sod laying, mowing, trimming, planting, watering, fertilizing, digging, raking, and sprinkler installation.

If you were tasked with choosing plants or trees for a yard, which would you choose? Draw some in the box below.

Roofers

Roofers put roofs on new buildings. They also repair and replace damaged roofs. They work on flat or slanted roofs. Sometimes they work on top of really tall buildings. Roofers also work with many types of materials.

In the space below, draw a type of building a roofer would work on.

Web Developers

Web developers design, create, and modify websites. They analyze user needs to implement content, graphics, performance, and capacity. They may integrate Web sites with other computer applications and use software designed to facilitate the creation of multimedia content.

How much do they pay?

Hourly Wage	Less than $15	$15-$20	$20-$25	$25-$30	More than $30

Veterinarians

Veterinarians diagnose and treat illnesses and injuries of animals. They may work with household pets or farm animals. Some do research to improve animal health.

Circle the animals below that a veterinarian may work with.

What other careers might be in the realistic category?

INVESTIGATIVE CAREERS FOR THINKERS

People in these careers generally like to explore and understand events. They usually are good in math, science, and working to solve problems.

Dieticians and Nutritionists

Dieticians and nutritionists study how our bodies use the foods we eat. They help people choose foods that will keep their bodies healthy. They teach people about the basic food groups, vitamins, minerals, fats, and fiber. They plan menus for patients in hospitals or for cafeterias in places like schools and assisted living and nursing homes.

Draw a healthy meal. Try to choose foods from at least three basic food groups.

Computer User Support Specialists

Computer user support specialists provide technical assistance to computer users. They answer questions or resolve computer problems for clients in person, via telephone, or electronically.

See if you can list four things that computers now do for businesses or people that used to be done by hand.

Economists

Economists conduct research, prepare reports, or make plans to address the state of the economy. The economy is the wealth and resources of an area or nation. Economists may collect, process, and analyze data from surveys.

What's an item that you would like to buy for yourself? How much does it cost? If you are given a $5 allowance every week, how many weeks would it take you to save enough money to buy the item?

Forensic Science Technicians

Forensic science technicians help police investigate crimes. They collect, identify, and analyze evidence from crime scenes. They may specialize in areas like fingerprinting, handwriting, or biochemistry.

Forest and Conservation Technicians

Forest and conservation technicians provide assistance regarding the conservation of soil, water, forests, or related natural resources. They may gather information about the size, content, condition, and other characteristics of forest tracts. They assist conservation scientists in managing, improving, and protecting lands and wildlife habitats.

On the top three leaves, write in three kinds of plants that you might find in a forest. On the bottom three leaves, write in three animals you might find.

Surveying and Mapping Technicians

Surveying and mapping technicians help study and map the natural features and man-made structures on the surface of the earth. They may take measurements and notes, make sketches, or use notes and sketches to make maps.

Draw a map that shows how to get from your home to your school.

ARTISTIC CAREERS FOR CREATORS

People in these careers like to work with creative ideas and express themselves rather than working with routines and rules. They usually are good in art, enjoy creating their own artwork, and have a good imagination.

Fine Artists

Fine artists draw and paint or create other artwork like sculptures that express feelings and ideas. They use many kinds of materials. Some paint using oils or watercolors. Some draw using pencils or pen and ink. Others mold or carve things out of rock, plaster, clay, or wood.

List two places where the work of fine artists might be displayed.

Floral Designers

Floral designers trim flowers to make bouquets, sprays, and wreaths. They make up dish gardens and terrariums. They make what the customers want using the colors and type of flowers they ask for.

List five events that floral designers would arrange flowers for:

3.

4.

5.

Graphic Designers

Graphic designers make things look good so people will be interested in them. Some design book, magazine, and album art. Graphic designers may work on packages for products. Some of them create new wallpaper patterns or design greeting cards.

Find a package for a product you like that a graphic designer most likely created. List four things that you think made it look good:

3.

Interior Designers

Interior designers plan and furnish the interiors of buildings. They talk to customers about their likes and dislikes. They find out how much money a customer can spend and determine the purpose of the space (office, home, etc.). Then they decorate the area so it makes good use of space, is comfortable, and looks nice.

Pretend you're an interior designer. What changes would you make to your classroom or bedroom? Draw a sketch of how you would like it to look.

SOCIAL CAREERS FOR HELPERS

People in these careers generally like to help, teach, and give people advice more than work with things. They usually like to be around other people, are interested in how people get along, and like to help other people with their problems.

Childcare Workers

Childcare workers attend to children at businesses, schools, and private households. They may dress, feed, and play with children. The children they tend to may be infants, toddlers, or school-age children.

Childcare workers may spend time with children of all ages. List at least two activities they could do with each age group below:

Infant (0-1)

Toddler (1-3)

School age (4+)

Dental Hygienists

Dental hygienists clean teeth and examine oral areas, head, and neck for signs of oral disease. They may educate patients on oral hygiene, take and develop x-rays, or apply fluoride or sealants.

Circle the tools or supplies a dental hygienist might normally use in a dentist's office.

Emergency Medical Technicians

Emergency medical technicians, or EMTs, provide emergency medical care at the scene of an accident or in people's homes after someone calls 911. EMTs find out the patient's condition and decide the immediate treatment needed. They give emergency care following strict rules. When needed, they transport the patient to a hospital for further treatment.

Circle the safety items that help prevent injuries in accidents that EMTs might respond to. Cross out the items that can cause health problems and accidents that EMTs might respond to.

Fitness Trainers

Fitness trainers help people determine their physical condition. Then they help their clients set and reach goals to improve their fitness. They suggest exercises that will help each person. Fitness trainers also show the person how to do the exercise safely and for the best results. They may keep records of their clients' exercise sessions in order to help them make progress towards physical fitness. Some fitness trainers lead exercise classes, such as aerobics.

Use the space inside the jump rope to write four activities that fitness trainers could have clients do to help them get physically fit. What's your favorite physical activity? Write it below.

School Counselors

School counselors help evaluate students' abilities, interests, and talents to set goals for school, work, and life. They work with individuals and groups of students. They also work with teachers to help classroom activities meet children's needs.

Name three things that a school counselor should be good at doing in order to do their job well:

- 1.
- 2.
- 3.

Training and Development Specialists

Training and development specialists manage and carry out training and development programs for employees. They study how adults learn and help workers gain skills to make them better at their jobs.

List three things you're good at that you could teach others to do.

- 1.
- 2.

ENTERPRISING CAREERS FOR PERSUADERS

People in these careers generally like to persuade others to do things or give them direction to do things rather than working with things or ideas. They usually like to be a group leader.

Ad Sales Agents

Ad sales agents sell or solicit advertising space, time, or media in publications, signage, TV, radio, or Internet establishments or public spaces.

Where have you seen an advertisement? List three places that you've seen an ad lately:

3.

Lawyers

Lawyers represent their clients in legal matters, including advising them on the law and writing legal documents. They may handle legal affairs for businesses, help different parties come to agreement, or defend and prosecute those accused of crimes.

Loan Officers

Loan officers review applications for loans. A loan is money that is borrowed with a promise to pay it back. Loan officers recommend approval or denial of a loan based on a customer's financial status and help determine a repayment plan.

Suppose a friend wants to borrow money from you. What questions would you ask the friend to help you decide whether you'd loan the money or not?

Medical and Health Services Managers

Medical and health service managers work in medical, nursing, or other departments of a health care facility. They plan, organize, coordinate, and supervise personnel and patient care. Other duties include finance, in-service training, and information management.

Doctors are just one example of workers medical and health services managers supervise. Name three other types of workers they may supervise.

CONVENTIONAL CAREERS

FOR ORGANIZERS

People in these careers generally like to follow orders and do things exactly according to directions. They do not usually like work that does not have clear instructions to follow. They are usually good in math, like to organize things, and like to work indoors.

Put the words listed below in alphabetical order. All of the words are things that the careers in the Conventional group work with.

Accountants and Auditors

Accountants and auditors work with financial information, or the numbers telling how a business or person is doing with money. They may write reports and maintain a record of profit and loss, or the amount of taxes owed.

One slice of pizza costs $1.25. If you have $10, how many slices of pizza can you buy?

Administrative Assistants

Administrative assistants help their organization by conducting research, preparing statistical reports, handling information requests, handling mail and email, receiving visitors, arranging conference calls, and scheduling meetings.

Put a check mark to the left of the characteristics below you think would be especially important for an administrative assistant. Put a check mark in the box to the right for each characteristic you think you have.

- ☐ - Well mannered - ☐

Archeologists

Archeologists study human life and culture from the distant past. They learn what they can about the past by digging up the artifacts left over, including bones, pottery, and buildings. They describe and record artifacts and try to determine what they mean.

An Egyptian tomb has just been discovered. Archeologists discovered hieroglyphics (ancient writings) on the walls of the tomb. Can you write your name in hieroglyphics?

Medical Records Technicians

Medical records technicians keep all paperwork for medical patients complete, up-to-date, and organized. These records include information the patient provides concerning his or her symptoms and medical history, results of examinations, test reports, doctors' findings, and treatment plans. They use computers to keep these records and assign a code to each diagnosis and procedure. The records kept are important for patient care, insurance, and billing purposes.

See if you can put the following letters in the right order to make words that medical records technicians might find in the paperwork they handle. The first letter of each word is capitalized to help you:

yrXa: _____

cooDrt: _____

itatPne: _____

seiDsae: _____

serNu: _____

pyhraTe: _____

eWhtgi: _____

tHrea: _____

Pilots

Pilots fly planes, usually on scheduled routes, for the transport of passengers and cargo. Pilots need certificates for the specific aircraft type used. Pilots can fly regionally, nationally, and internationally.

If you could fly anywhere in the world, where would you fly and why?

Truck Drivers

Truck drivers transport goods all over the state, country, and world. Here, we are talking about truck drivers who transport goods in large trucks. Truck drivers might need to help unload the truck after transporting the goods.

Pictured below are just three of the things a truck driver might transport. Use the space provided to draw something else a truck driver might deliver.

Did you know that you can do things right NOW to help you prepare for the world of work, and to learn more about what careers might be the best fit for you?

PLANNING AHEAD!

DO YOUR BEST IN SCHOOL

For now, being a student is your job. Do the best you can in school. Everything you're learning now will help prepare you for the world of work.

Did you know that math, science, reading, English, social studies, and other school subjects are needed in almost every career?

MATH

Careers like accountants and auditors, loan officers, and advertising sales agents use basic math skills. How would an accountant work with finances if he couldn't add or subtract? How would a loan officer figure out how much money someone can afford to borrow if she couldn't work with percentages?

Careers like landscapers and roofers need shop mathematics. How could roofers accurately measure materials for a roof if they couldn't figure dimensions?

Careers like surveying and mapping technicians need applied mathematics, and careers like electrical engineers and economists need advanced levels of math.

SCIENCE

Careers like fitness trainers and archeologists use practical applications of science in their daily work. Applied science is important for careers like forensic science technicians, emergency medical technicians, medical records technicians, and dietitians and nutritionists. Careers like veterinarians require advanced levels of science.

READING AND ENGLISH

Every career today requires good communication skills, including the ability to read and write English well. Everyone from artists to electrical engineers must be able to read written instructions and rules, understand others when they talk, and communicate well with coworkers, supervisors, and customers.
